 HAPPY CANADA DAY

 Publication #88, HTML Version

CO-CAPTAIN's MESSAGE:

On June 17, Lorne Schroeder, his wife Lorna and I decided to take in a day of the 32nd Annual Chi-Cheemaun Festival held at Tobermory. The winds at Warton were 15-16 knots, gusting 25 knots at 250 degrees, which more or less put them right down our runway 23 (230 degrees - no problem!), however with Tobermory's runway at 12x30, it meant a stiff cross wind. A call up to Tobermory (CNR4) assured us the winds were 6-7mph, cross wind favoring 30 runway, so off we went in Lorne's 172 Cessna.

Tobermory Airport

The ride up at 2500 feet was smooth as glass, but upon arriving we found the cross wind had picked up substantially, close to 15-17mph! Lorne expertly set his bird down like 'a butterfly with sore feet' and we arrived just in time to board the shuttle bus and start sightseeing! We did a walking tour of the harbor, and stopped to look at a most enjoyable display of classic automobiles at the ferry dock. We caught the shuttle bus and went to the local golf club for lunch, then returned to the airport, where we visited a very unusual scene.....

in hangar #1, we met up with Richard P. Synergy, a research Scientist from Toronto who is spending the summer at Tobermory, building a self-propelled Flying Wing. This flying wing is 34' long, 5'7" high, boasts a 42' wingspan, weighs 72lbs empty, has a propeller length of 10', propeller weight of 4lbs (made of carbon fibre and foam), is anticipate to have a lift off speed of 12-13mph (breaking ground effect), final lift off speed of 18-20mph, and cruising speed of 22mph.

Richard told us he is looking for more volunteers to help assemble this aircraft, and with help will have it ready to fly in 4 weeks. He is also looking for athletic men and women in three age brackets (16-24 junior, 24-60 adult, 60+ senior), who will assist in building and flying this self-propelled bird! If you are interested, contact Richard Synergy at flycycle@sympatico.ca or call him at the Tobermory Airport, 519-596-2898. It truly is worth the trip the Tobermory to see this ground-breaking exercise in the making! We wish you well Richard!

Before we left we counted 18 aircraft on the ground, a good turnout for such a breezy day. Thanks to Airport Manger Ron Skinner and everyone at tobermory for your hospitality!

See you next month!
